- Preferred Citation: Item description, MRL 2: Lorenzo Warriner Pease Papers, series #, box #, and folder #, The Burke Library Archives (Columbia University Libraries) at Union Theological Seminary, New York.

Biography

Lorenzo Warriner Pease was born May 20, 1809 in Hinsdale, Massachusetts to parents Erastus and Persis (Chapin) Pease. Lorenzo attended Hamilton College and graduated in 1828. He also attended Auburn Theological Seminary from 1830 to 1833 and Andover Theological Seminary in 1834.

In 1834, Pease was ordained a missionary in Auburn at the First Presbyterian Church; appointed by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions (ABCFM); and married Lucinda Leonard of Auburn. Less than a month after their wedding, the couple set sail for Cyprus, arriving on the island in November 1834. Lorenzo stayed in Cyprus for the rest of his life, traveling extensively throughout the area.

In the final entry in the last diary, Lorenzo wrote, "Today I have been attacked with a slight fever, which I am endeavoring to subdue by fasting." Lorenzo died five days later of typhoid fever on August 28, 1839 in Larnaca, Cyprus and was buried in Scala with two previously deceased children, including a son. He was survived by his wife and two daughters, Sarah Ann and Harriet Maria. Harriet Maria died 1839-1840, thus Lorenzo's wife Lucinda returned with Sarah Ann to America in 1840.

Collection Scope and Content Note

The collection is organized into four series and includes acid-free copies for consultation. Box 5 includes materials that are copies of some of the original missing items. Some records are in Greek.

- Series 1: Diaries, 1811 – 1896 (2 boxes, 1.00 lin. ft.)

A majority of the diaries in this series were written by Pease, and three others penned by other members of his family including his mother, Persis Chapin Pease; his daughter, Sarah Ann Pease Wadsworth; and his wife, Lucinda Leonard Pease.

The diaries give in great detail the life and experience of Pease in Cyprus, and he did not shy away from detail. As recorded in his first diary, Pease considered being an editor but lamented that he was neither old enough nor had the sufficient experience required. Lorenzo was also quite politically-minded, and thought that “the press is the most powerful instrument which can be used to build or destroy the liberties of a people – it should be placed in the hands of men of integrity and honor.” On June 20, 1828, Pease wrote that he was “completely disgusted with the vile and daring lies which are palmed off on the people by the partisans of both candidates for the Presidency.” Other topics include kissing; past United States presidents including Monroe and Madison; and how to discern one’s character. This level of detail continues through the diaries, discussing events, other people, meteorological observations and everyday life as a missionary.

Some diaries have poems, theatrical plays, sermons, letters, newspaper clippings, notes from his classes while at Auburn Theological Seminary and other ephemera pasted in the pages. The diaries are organized in chronological order.

- Series 2: Correspondence, 1834 – 1840 (1 box, 0.25 lin. ft.)

Within this series are letters from Pease and his family during his time as a missionary, as well as from after his death. The first item in the series is a notebook which has handwritten transcripts of letters from Lorenzo Pease that he wrote to his friends and family while at sea. It also includes a few letters written after his arrival. Those noted in this notebook include Pease’s parents, his brother Henry C. Pease, and his sisters Cordelia, Harriet, Laura, Catharine and Charlotte. The other correspondence includes individual letters to family and friends. The correspondence is organized in chronological order.

- Series 3: Manuscripts, 1833 – 1838 (1 box, 0.50 lin. ft.)

Within this series are sermons, essays, notebooks and research Pease hand-wrote while a missionary in Cyprus. The sermons and sermon sketches deal with a specific passage from the Bible, such as Job 11:7 or Matthew 26:41. The essays give an interesting glimpse into missionary life during Pease’s time and are listed at the item level. The notes and research involve a more in-depth look at the Cyprus that Pease knew through hand-drawn maps and other information on topics such as politics, education and physical geography.

- Series 4: Surrogates, 1834 – 1896 (3 boxes, 1.25 lin. ft.)

Within this series are surrogate photocopies that were created in 1999. The series includes duplicates of some diaries and correspondence. Also available are copies of materials whose originals have been noted missing since before January 2004. The surrogates are organized so that the copies of the missing materials are available in box five, with the diaries and correspondence in the remaining boxes and organized in the same order as the originals.

The Greek manuscript in box 5 folder 6 is a hymn composed for the baptism of Lorenzo's daughter, Harriet Maria, incorporating scripture from Matthew, Mark and Luke. It is written in the nineteenth-century Katharevousa Greek which was first used circa 1796.

Processing

Metal clips and staples were removed from materials and folded items were flattened. Materials were placed in new acid-free folders and boxes. Acidic items were separated from one another by interleaving with acid-free paper as needed.

One box which housed items 68 through 79 noted missing prior to January 2004 included linguistic manuals and studies, a book of poetry, and Pease's passport from 1837.

Original folder numbering from the Missionary Research Library has been retained in the square brackets at the end of each line.

An item-level listing is available to researchers upon request.
